

JFS is seeking a Van Driver to join the Harvey Kornblum Food Pantry team.

The Van Driver travels throughout the St. Louis region to collect and distribute food for members of our community who are affected by hunger insecurity. While engaged in driving for much of the workday, additional tasks are required to support the daily operations of the food pantry. This position requires high energy, a safe driving record and an above average amount of physical effort. The Driver position includes various tasks such as:

- Picking up large quantities of food, and occasionally other items, from community locations.
- Unloading products and moving them to the warehouse, coolers, and freezer.
- Operating forklift and pallet jack to move pallets in support of delivery and storage of food.
- Delivering food to homebound clients.
- Maintaining cleanliness in the warehouse, sorting area, parking lot, and outside trash area.
- Keeping a clean van.
- Removing trash and breaking down boxes for recycling.

The successful candidate is able to work as part of a team, follow written and verbal instructions, demonstrate flexibility, communicate information to the supervisor and among the other drivers, and build and maintain positive relationships with vendors, volunteers, and co-workers.

Requirements:

- High school education or GED.
- Able to use office equipment, personal computer, and related software applications.
- Valid Class E driver's license (not required to interview).
- Passion for the JFS mission.
- Builds relationships easily.
- Flexible, persistent, and attentive to detail.
